

The logo features a central circular emblem with a teal border. Inside the circle is a dense, tangled mass of white, fibrous structures resembling a protein or polysaccharide network. Several bright yellow, spherical particles are scattered throughout this network. The background of the entire image is a light blue, rippling water surface. Surrounding the central circle are various green and brown molecular structures, including hexagonal rings and branched chains, representing different chemical components.

Glycobiology Asia 2019

May 10-11, 2019

Tokyo | Japan